Gianluca Annunziata, born Feb. 15, 1978, in Pompeii, Italy, exemplifies determination and commitment to pursuing his professional goals. His education and work experience have led him to achieve significant results in the financial and consulting industry.

With a solid foundation of knowledge and skills in the industry, Gianluca has pursued the profession of mechanical watchmaker on his own, working with passion in his family's prestigious jewelry shop that has been handing down this profession with love and dedication for generations.

However, his entrepreneurial spirit and desire to take on new challenges pushed him to take a different path. In 2005, Gianluca founded Credit Group, a financial brokerage company, which he still owns today. This opportunity allowed him to start a free and independent professional activity, putting his financial knowledge and entrepreneurial skills to good use.

His experience was not limited to the financial sector, but also extended to the political and institutional spheres. Gianluca held the position of Credit Manager for SMEs at Confartigianato Salerno from 2003 to 2005, working simultaneously with Banco Roma. Subsequently, he gained valuable skills as parliamentary assistant to the Honorable Alessia Maria Mosca at the Chamber of Deputies from 2005 to 2007 and then worked in the Letta secretariat of the Honorable Moro from 2007 to 2010.

Throughout his career, Gianluca has had the opportunity to enrich his experience through several significant collaborations. In 2008, he held a position at ENPA (Ente Nazionale Piccoli Armatori) with Iaccarino, in collaboration with UniCredit. In addition, meeting Dr. Francesco Cuccurullo was crucial to his professional and personal journey. Together, Gianluca and Francesco became associates, friends and partners, owners of the renowned FG Advice company based in Milan, 21 Via Montenapoleone.

Currently, Gianluca Annunziata serves as a director of FG Advice, which has established itself as a leading consulting firm nationally and internationally.

Gianluca Annunziata's journey is a tangible example of how passion, determination and collaboration can lead to extraordinary results. Through sacrifice, commitment, and a constant desire for professional and personal growth, he has built a successful path that continues to thrive. Gianluca represents a role model for those who wish to achieve ambitious goals, facing challenges along the way with courage and dedication.
