BIO

Jennifer Jarosik is the International PR for The Rob Rockefeller S.C.

She is a rising star in today's world of multimedia. In addition to being a published poet, a children's books author, and a documentary producer, Jarosik is noted as the host of the television show Star Spirit for Hulu in America, where she has candid interviews with celebrity guests regarding their outlook on life challenges, success and spirituality.

Among noted guests on her show was legendary American talent manager, Hollywood film agent, and producer Shep Gordon, who was the main subject in the feature documentary Supermensch: The Legend of Shep Gordon directed by Mike Myers.

As an author, Jarosik's writing is often inspirational and soul searching. Her first poetry book Amuse Yourself has been very well received, garnering glowing reviews from numerous readers.

Following on its success, Jarosik's second poetry book Conversations with Silence is presently being prepared for publication.

While her poetry is reflective, inspiring deeper thought, Jarosik's series of children's books entitled Wisdom Teachings of Animals have fun and endearing animal characters, and are filled with humor, heart, and compassion, which teach life lessons to young readers. The first book in the series, Magical Dakota Little Two Dogs, was published in 2016 and is available in retailers worldwide.

Jarosik identifies new business opportunities and assists in business development strategies for these companies. Additionally, Jarosik also serves as advisor to the International Royal Diplomatic Club of the United Nations, the International Royal Academy of the United Nations, as well as the International Chamber of Commerce, advising on business and public relations.

At her core, Jen – as her friends fondly call her – is just a simple girl, who was raised on a farm in a small Nebraska town. She attended Hastings College and the University of Nebraska, Lincoln. She enjoys the outdoors and lives an active lifestyle practicing yoga to maintain her overall fitness and health. She is passionate about helping others, especially women to find their voice and discover themselves. Perhaps Jarosik puts it best in her own words. "I'm just a girl from Nebraska. What I am learning most is that it's not what you do, but how you do it.

Do what you love. Accomplish your goals. Get to know oneself, and that voice, where you get a glimpse of God through silence, is truly a gift. Nothing outside can give you this much happiness or take it away. I love people and assisting humanity as I can."
